DEREK REDMOND:

It doesn't matter how hard it is,
but you must finish what you started.

For over a century, the Olympics have been the pinnacle of success for any athlete in the world. Some of them create history by setting new world records and achieving the impossible; but there are quite a few who lose and yet they win the respect and admiration of millions worldwide. Derek Redmond is one such athlete who took the Olympic Spirit to a Level that will never be surpassed.

Derek Redmond participated at the 1992 Olympic Games in Barcelona, Spain, with the desire to have the gold medal.

After dealing with a series of injuries and illness, he started with a fresh and winning spirit and reached the semi-finals. But the destiny betrayed him once again – in the mid way of the semi-final event, he tore his hamstring. He tried to push himself but the excruciating pain could not let him move ahead. He sat on the track and started crying; his Olympic dreams came to a crashing end.

Suddenly, his father Jim emerged from the crowd and entered the ground to console his injured son. He assisted his son to stand and said "We will finish the game together."

The audience watched this incredible event with wet eyes and clapped for the father-son to the finishing line.

Continued...

Together, they took the Olympic spirit to a new height and showed the world the real meaning of sportsmanship. The crowd in the auditorium welcomed them with standing ovation and heart-felt respect.

Who is Derek Anthony Redmond?

Derek Anthony Redmond is a retired British athlete who is best known for his well-remembered performance at the 1992 Olympic Games.

Throughout his career he suffered from several injuries but continued pursuing his dreams. He won gold medals in the 4x400 meters relay at the World Championships, Commonwealth Games and European Championships and also broke the British record in the 400 meters run in 1985, finishing in 44.82 seconds.

Lesson to learn...

Winning the challenges do not always make you the man of honor but it is the never-give-up attitude and perseverance that makes a real example worth respecting and following.

If we can't stop wishing and desiring for something bigger and better, then why do we stop taking actions after a few failed attempts under difficult circumstances? After all, it is not the crown or medal that makes us great but our attempts and never-say-die spirit.

Stephen Kaggwa says it best, "Try and fail, but don't fail to try."

ALBERT EINSTEIN

From our Chaplain...

What a wonderful Saturday afternoon it was this weekend at Lake Leschenaultia. School families, staff and Carmel SDA Church families joined together to celebrate the baptism of two of our own Year 6 students, Nikalya and Sam and also Nikayla's cousin Nate. As we all gathered together on the edge of the lake, and witnessed these young people being baptized, we praised God for their bold decision.

You may be thinking, 'Why is baptism important?' Simply, we follow the example of Jesus. He was baptized even though He had never sinned. He did this to set an example for us. Matthew 3:13-16.

Baptism is a symbol of a new beginning with God. When we are lowered into the water, it symbolizes we have died to our old way of thinking and living and when we are raised up out of the water, we are ready to walk in a new way of life, a Christian life. As these three young people made public their desire to follow Jesus, they were saying to everyone, 'I am choosing to be a follower of Jesus Christ.'

Baptism is open to everyone. Don't think you can't give your life to Jesus and be baptized. Whether you've grown up in the church or want to accept Jesus for the first time, He invites you to make a lifelong commitment to Him. It's a choice I have never regretted making—and neither will you.

God bless,
Mrs Nicola Warchol

'For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life.'
