Running Your Own Race

I was cycling and noticed a person ahead of me, about 250 meters. I could tell he was cycling a little slower than me and decided to try to catch him. I had about a km to go on the road before turning off.

So I started cycling faster and faster and every block, I was gaining on him just a little bit. After a few minutes I was only about 100 meters behind him, so I really picked up the pace and pushed myself. You would have thought I was cycling the last leg of London Olympic triathlon.

Finally, I caught up with him and passed him by. On the inside I felt so good. "I beat him" of course, but he didn't even know we were racing.

After I passed him, I realised that I had been so focused on competing against him that I had missed my turn, had gone nearly six blocks past it and had to turn around and go all the way back.

Isn't that what happens in life when we focus on competing with co-workers, neighbours, friends, family, trying to out-do them or trying to prove that we are more successful or more important? We spend our time and energy running after them and we miss out on our own paths to our destinies.

The problem with unhealthy competition is that it's a never-ending 'cycle'. There will always be somebody ahead of you, someone with better job, nicer car, more money in the bank,

School Yard Blitz April 24 & May 1

We need your help! There are a number of jobs that we are planning on completing around the school, but we need your help to finish them.

Thank you for all the people who helped during the working bees last year to start the Stephanie Alexander garden. We are wanting to complete the wonderful work already done, so we are planning for this to be finished on Sunday, 24th April and if required on Sunday, 1st May.

In order for this garden area to be finished, we will need help from our school community. So that the work will be completed as quickly as possible, we will need five teams of men, women and children. We need people to:

- Finish constructing the garden beds
- Make the tractor safe for playing on
- Build a fence around the garden area
- Deconstruct the old playground
- Help with serving lunch

Lunch will be provided on both of these days, so we will need to know if you are able to come and help. Please let the office know which team you are happy to work with.

Thank you so much for your interest and support with the school. If you have any queries, feel free to contact the office.

Autumn School Holiday Program

The team at Nearer to Nature have been busy preparing a wonderful program to get the kids out and about exploring nature and the Perth outdoors in the upcoming school holidays. Please check out the program enclosed in this newsletter.

Carmel Church News

The Everest Expedition Team is back!

Come along to Carmel Church on April 9 for this special day where kids are the focus of our church service. The Everest Expedition Team from Easter camp will present a wonderful music-filled program where kids (and adults) will take home special message about our awesome God. The program begins at 11am.

Join us each week on Saturday morning for various age related programs or small groups between 9:30-10:30am. The main worship service begins at 11am.

The Parents and Friends Committee would like to thank the school community for their support in our Bulb Fundraiser. We raised just over $1000, which will go towards the development of a new playground area.

From our Chaplain...

This week I had the pleasure of joining our Year 1's on their excursion to the Rio Tinto Naturescape Playground in Kings Park. The students had a wonderful time at the various areas but I think the creek was the favourite! While paddling around in the water, chatting and exploring with the kids, I couldn't help but think I must have the best job in the world! How blessed we are here at Carmel Primary that we have two different entities who believe in a chaplaincy program.

Our chaplaincy program is jointly funded by the Australian Government under the National School Chaplaincy Program (NSCP) and the Western Australian Conference of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. Funding of 10 hours per week from the NSCP is used to facilitate those parts of our Chaplaincy Program which focus more on building resiliency, emotional and pastoral support such as (though not limited to) Protective Behaviours, Stephanie Alexander Gardening Program, school excursions, sport activities and camps. Funding from the WA Conference is also used to facilitate those parts of our program which focus on resiliency and relationship building but is also used for those aspects of our program which may be deemed more Christian in their orientation, such as weekly chapels, Bible studies and the annual Week of Worship.

Inclusion in the Chaplaincy Program is voluntary yet implied in your decision to enrol your child at Carmel Adventist College Primary. If you wish for your child or family to not be included in any, or all, of the services that the chaplaincy program provides, you can fill out our 'Opt Out' form at School Reception or contact the Chaplain on 9291 6399 or by email, nicolawarchol@adventist.org.au.

Thanks to all our Year 1 students for a memorable excursion. If you have time on the holidays, I can highly recommend the Rio Tinto Naturescape Playground and your kids will love you for taking them there.

I trust you are able to enjoy some 'down time' over the holidays with your family and I look forward to seeing you back after the holidays for Term 2.

God Bless, Mrs Warchol

Ukuleles Have Arrived!

Well the Ukeleles have arrived! This photo captured the excitement as they opened them! Big thanks to the P&F for funding this!

Carmel Primary NAPLAN Results Prove Strong Educational Achievements

Carmel Adventist College, Primary Campus (Carmel Primary), has again been recognised for the excellent learning environment it has created and the outstanding educational achievements of its students.

In a letter from Robert Randall, Chief Executive Officer of the Australian Curriculum, Assessment and Reporting Authority (ACARA), Carmel Primary was congratulated for being identified as a school that had demonstrated substantially above average gain in NAPLAN results.

According to ACARA's methodology, Carmel Primary demonstrated substantial growth in NAPLAN scores when compared with previous years, schools with similar students based on the Index of Community Socio-Educational Advantage (ICSEA) and other students with similar NAPLAN average score starting points.

Leading education researcher Geoff Masters, the chief executive of the Australian Council for Educational Research, agreed it was time to realise the only way to measure how much learning had occurred was by measuring the progress students had made.

"We believe gains of this magnitude are significant, worthy of acknowledgement." ACARA general manager for assessment, Stanley Rabinowitz, said.

"Schools are much more than their tests scores", principal Janine Taylor said, "but a letter commending the teaching team for their efforts, is a nice way of affirming people for their hard work and the added value they have brought to the education of the students. When you get some external affirmation it really does continue to bring new energy to the school and its community."

"NAPLAN is just one diagnostic tool that we use. We spend considerable time looking at data, not to improve our NAPLAN results, but to improve our teaching and students learning."

Carmel Adventist College, Primary is a member school of the Australia wide system of Seventh-day Adventist schools that has been on a journey of school improvement using the Quality Adventist Schools Framework (QASF) for the past three years. Part of this process has lead to Carmel Primary developing an integrated approach to professional learning and a strong focus on reflective practice. These two elements are providing teachers with the right tools to educate students more effectively.

"This is just the beginning of a much longer journey", Janine says. "Our idealic location has encouraged a strong focus on nature pedagogy in the early years, which we believe is helping to build strong, resilient students who love to be at school. Studies have shown that when students are happy to be at school, they are far more receptive to an in depth learning experience. When you add to the mix teachers who are working together with their peers to support and improve practice, it is a winning combination."

Mr Hughes, Mrs Keating, Miss Till and Mrs Stanton

Carmel Primary's Kindy program does an excellent job in introducing students to learning through playing in nature, bringing the classroom to the outdoors and encouraging learning for life. This start to learning is supported throughout the Carmel Primary journey and these ACARA / NAPLAN results confirm the continuous learning that is occurring throughout the entire school.
